Chief Academic Officer Dr. Diane DeBacker provided an overview of the adoption process and the Board Action Report. Dr. DeBacker noted the relationship to the broader adoption of new science materials. Dr. DeBacker spoke about work by the Instructional Materials Committee and updates to the Board Action Report since it was reviewed by the Curriculum & Instruction Policy Committee and originally posted for the April 29 Board meeting.

Director Rankin spoke about the changes to the item since it was reviewed by the Curriculum & Instruction Policy Committee and noted her appreciation for the updates provided to the Committee. Director Hampson asked about scoring and the weighting for evaluation of bias content, equity analysis conducted, and community engagement outside of the committee structure to vet for bias. Science Program Manager Mary Margaret Welch spoke to the review criteria used including ensuring there is no racial bias in the instructional materials and racial equity analysis. Ms. Welch spoke about the review and field-testing processes.

Director Harris asked about community engagement and work to get public feedback on the proposed materials. Ms. Welch described in-person and online engagement efforts.

Directors noted their thanks and appreciation for work on the item.
